

Ilaanian Monks Arrive at the Desk of Jordan – A Bible and Judgment on the Future of Christian Life

I. All Arranged in the Square, the Ilaanian Monks Discuss the News on Future Paul and Christ

First of course, the good news in the Bible – that in fact the Second Christ lives forever – how this is done is by placing the square of his life which is a geometry in line with Christ and negating the small difference called death by a power of logic and judgment called speculative infinite judgment which is made by a point on the square and its consequence – Christ on this point has a consequence resurrection in art – while Sirohi on this point has the consequence divine and infinite happiness in life.

This then is corroborated in the art of Bible and Quran, even Torah – what the work means in integration of all points raised in the future is – the point on health, the point on sciences, theatre, novels and art – even Bible writing and Quran formalism, even finally theological reason being discovered and finally integration sciences which then meditates on a jurist's fine quality of judgment and this is then divine jurisprudence here – that in fact the discovery of a theological discipline called geography then frees us as such.

II. The Monks then form a class unit and class room and walk to the Black Board on the wall – and form a whole corroboration and then form Spiritual Reason and guage the Spiritual content of the work – its Happiness

Monasticism is about the art of Agora in this divine format called Blackboard teaching – in praise one analyses history, geography, epistle, and poem, literature, modern Bible and cinema all in line with the following structure –

A set of parallel worlds in the sense of a Agora Ptolemy and its whole theological discipline in the form of geography combined with praise in the form of speaking to force praise on the science discovered which sheds light on history and the future – in fact geography not yet history proves in the circles of the world that this future is the best world for eternal life and is proven in fact by point by point axiomatics.

III. In Praise of Christ and then Sirohi who is Paul to us, not Christ the tragedy, but Paul the resilient

When one measures the intelligence and wit of the man one concludes his mind is genius – and this illuminates more.
